

When Your Ship Comes In

(words and music Kurt E Hoffman ©2011)

Whistling sailors*

To the bow from the stern, to the left and the right, port side. I'm going to put on my Captains' hat, and we can take control of this little tiny ship. When your ship comes in, throw the mast, hoist the jib. Turn this whole damned thing around. When the ship comes in find some wind steer away from the doldrums keep going westward bound.....when your ship comes, when your ship comes in....

Now there are always whistling sailors in the background. Now there are always whistling sailors. Now there are always whistling sailors in the background. Now there are always whistling sailors.*

When your ship comes in.....

All aboard! Settle down put on your little squeaky blue deck shoes, when your ship comes in, be prepared for some weather even though it's rather nice right now, when your ship comes in, keep an eye on your maps, put an entry in the captains' log, always know where your landmarks are, always know where you came from, always know where you've been, when your ship comes in....when your ship comes in..

Now there are always whistling sailors in the background. Now there are always whistling sailors. Now there are always whistling sailors in the background. Now there are always whistling sailors.*

When your ship comes in..... When your ship comes in.....

Now is never the end. Now is never the end. Now, is never the end?
