

Love Is Like (words and music Kurt E Hoffman, copyright 2010)

And Love is like, a big red flower. And love is like, this one last hour

And love is like, like, one look at you

In a candlelight on a moonbeam from a starry night, You will never ever, ever leave my mind

In a pastorage, in a work of art knowing from the start, little slices of heaven, heaven in my mind

And Love is like, a pure blue ocean. And Love is like, like, one look at you

On a sunny day in the month of May rolling in the hay, little slices of heaven again in my mind

Even in the rain on a stormy day, misty memories, will always, always, sing a song for you

And Love is....and love is....and love is, one look at you

In a candlelight on a moonbeam from a starry night, you will never ever, ever leave my mind

In a pastorage, in a work of art knowing from the start, little slices of heaven, in my mind

On a sunny day in the month of May rolling in the hay, little slices of heaven again in my mind

Even in the rain on a stormy day, misty memories, will always, always, sing a song for you

And Love is....and love is....and love is, one look at you

In a sunny day in the month of May rolling in the hay, little slices of heaven again in my mind

Even in the rain on a stormy day, misty memories, will always, always, sing a song for you

In a candlelight on a moonbeam from a starry night, you will never ever, ever leave my mind

In a pastorage, in a work of art knowing from the start, little slices of heaven, heaven in my mind

And Love is Like, Like, Like
