

FROM THE CITY (Music and Lyrics Kurt E Hoffman C 2009)

When you coming home from the city?

There's still a 2 lane road back to my heart

So when you coming home from the city?

You have your key; you always had it from the start

And I've been sitting here feeding all your kitties

And don't you know, one got too full, and he got sick

Oh, Oh, I've been lighting all the candles that you gave me

Didn't take too long to Burn them all right down to the quick

So When you coming home from the city?

There's still a 2 lane road back to my heart

So when you coming home from the city?

You have your key; you always had it from the start

And I've been reading all the magazines that you subscribe to

Oh, Oh, And I've been leaving all your cosmetics in their place

So when you coming home, when you coming home, when you coming home?

Oh, Oh, When you coming home, from the city?

From the city
