

When You're Asleep (Words & Music Kurt E Hoffman Copyright 2009)

When you're asleep, I see your eyes flutter rapid in a deep deep REM

And I know that there is some pain in your brain,

The more your eyes flutter like a butterfly

When you're asleep, there is no difference,

There is no difference

And when you're awake, you hide the pain and the big mistake,

And speaking conversationally

There's no remorse in your voice

As you enter my reality.

When you're asleep,

When you're awake,

There is no difference,

There is no difference
